Volunteer Opportunities

Imagine...

Imagine living in your worst nightmare...

Imagine not knowing but hoping that today is the day you would get everything right...

Imagine waking up scared, every morning, wondering if this would be the last day you and your children would be alive...

Imagine all this bought on by someone you love and who is supposed to love you back...

We are actively searching for help line volunteers who will be able to offer on going support for people, exploring options available to help themselves so they feel empowered to make decisions.
